

Published based on Biomass removal targeted at summit; risk of bigger wildfires would be reduced

Biomass removal targeted at summit; risk of bigger wildfires would be reduced

Since 1999 about half a million acres of forest have burned in Trinity County, but the damage didn't have to be that widespread, a county supervisor said Wednesday.

Biomass removal targeted at summit; risk of bigger wildfires would be reduced

You can also find this article published on Biomass removal targeted at summit; risk of bigger wildfires would be reduced, and on the tag pages Biomass, county supervisor, Million Acres, Risk, summit, trinity county, wildfires.